

Caring for your MS patients doesn't need to be a challenge.

Choosing the right specialty pharmacy can provide support and services MS patients need. When patients get support, they stay in treatment, and that results in better outcomes.

"The multiple sclerosis team has been the best thing you could have done for a patient like me. This is a great service, and I am thankful that it is provided to me."

Optum Therapy Solutions

50% of people living with multiple sclerosis are also living with depression.

Clinical evidence has shown that depression directly affects patients' ability to stay on track with their treatment.

Hub partnership

Optum Specialty Pharmacy can deliver medications on average of three times faster than manufacturing hubs.

Every day counts when treating multiple sclerosis. Delays in treatment can cause relapses and disease progression.
