CORPORATE HEALTH SOLUTION FOR GLOBAL EMPLOYERS

76% of employers across the globe expect to increase their health and wellness programme spend over the next three years. Wellness portals facilitate convenience and increase the probability of engagement, which is why nearly half of them are supporting their programmes through a dedicated platform.

Optum® offers an integrated health solution that features a suite of wellbeing programmes that can help unify your health and wellness strategy and build a culture of health within your organisation. Optum My Wellbeing, our digital health engagement tool, has the capability to act as a hub for wellbeing, allowing you to integrate with other Optum wellness products such as Incentives, Biometrics and EAP.

Depth and breadth of services

While keeping a holistic view of your employee’s health in mind and by offering a solution that addresses many dimensions of wellbeing, you can help ensure they are getting the help and support they need, when they need it.
Integrates solution suite

Our solutions are designed to work complimentary to one another, by supporting the whole individual. From getting mental and emotional support, or motivation and resources to improve physical health, to services that support workplace issues and times of crisis.

Single source provider

Working with a single supplier can help establish high quality standards and service consistency across regions, while affording economies of scale. All while helping to make managing your wellness programme easier. We come alongside you to help customise a solution that works for your organisational needs. You will have access to a single account management team who is dedicated to the success of all the health and wellbeing programmes you have purchased through Optum.

Data driven

We can help bring meaning to your data and help strategise a plan of action in an effort to maintain and improve employee morale, as well as promote a more productive workforce.
